The music building at Carmel High School has been named the Arthur Holman Music Building.

Dr. Robert Newton, a member of the school board, presented the resolution to honor the late Mr. Holman, a beloved teacher of music at Sunset School for many years, who died unexpectedly just a year ago.

Admiral C. W. Fisher says he should not have credit for providing the seeds for the Carmel Youth Center's wildflower sowing campaign, as reported in last week's Pine Cone. He took the many packets of seeds to the Youth Center, but they were given to him by Jim Burgess.

Admiral Fisher was merely a modern Carmel Ganymede or Mercury, according to whether the Greek or Roman name is preferred. And look where that places Jim Burgess!

About to approve a routine warrent list for Carmel School District last night, school board members were stopped short by a figurative howl of anguish from Dr. Richard Snyder.

"Before we approve this warrant list," Dr. Snyder said, "I'd like to hear some explanation of why we are spending $18.72 with a liquor store." Dr. Snyder went on to point out that the bill had a promotional slogan, "The Place to Go When You're Feeling Low." He

Woods Fifth Grade Likes UC Library, President's Speech

Some weeks ago, the pupils in Miss Joan Hampton's fifth grade class at Woods School wrote to the University of California asking for tickets for the Charter Day ceremonies last Friday afternoon during which President John F. Kennedy was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree.

The University sent the fifth graders the tickets they requested. Plans were made for the trip to Berkeley—providing it didn't rain.

Friday morning the sun shone and the 17 boys and girls, accompanied by Miss Hampton, Mrs. Howard Benedict, Mrs. Robert Goulding and Mrs. Warren Edwards, drove to the University of California, had a picnic lunch on the lawn, then took their seats for the ceremonies in Memorial Stadium attended by over 80,000 persons.

During the day, in groups, they

TOWN MEETING

The five candidates who are seeking election to the city council on April 10 will speak at a town meeting sponsored by the Carmel Business Association on Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in Sunset School auditorium.

Herbert B. Blanks, James Buffington, Jr., Mrs. John Chitwood, Warren Edwards and Gunnar Norberg, incumbent councilman, each will be given five minutes in which to state why they are running, and give platforms.

Following this the candidates will answer written questions submitted by members of the audience. L. D. Rose will be the moderator.

Abalone League Umpire Doc Staniford Recalls Carmel Softball Heyday

By Raylyn Penney

During 30 years as a druggist in Carmel, Donald (Doc) Staniford dispensed Pear's Soap, Peruna, Sapolio, fireworks for the Fourth of July, friendly advice, travel directions to strangers, choice anecdotes, and news of Abalone League standings and schedules.

One of the ailments of Carmel today, Doc believes, is that many of these items are no longer available in drug stores.

New brands may have replaced the old on such things as soap and medicine, but nothing has ever replaced the atmosphere in Stanifords' Drug Store after a game, when everyone was talking at once, and customers had to search for whatever they wanted beneath the softball jerseys and jackets draping the counters.

For in Carmel recent history, the name Doc Staniford is inseparable from stories of the Abalone League, the first softball league in the West and the first (and perhaps only) softball league to get an official ruling from former baseball commissioner Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

That Carmel took its softball league so seriously only a few short years ago and scarcely remembers its own seriousness now, is one of the puzzlements pondered with good humor and a sharp memory by Doc Staniford, who has been retired from pharmacy for about eight years now, and retired from his job as chief umpire of the Abalone League since before World War II when interest in the league faded away and could never be brought back into focus for one reason or another.

Doc, who was born in San Jose on April 28, 1885, left there in 1900 to go to work in San Francisco as an apprentice in a drug store. He graduated in 1909 from University of California College of Pharmacy and worked for ten years for the old Wakelle drug store chain in the Bay area, becoming manager of the seven

Kite Flying Saturday-- Just Like 31 Years Ago At First Kite Festival

Thirty-one years ago, February 21, 1931, to be exact, young kite flyers gathered in the afternoon at Sunset School to take part in Carmel's first kite festival, organized by the Reverend Willis G. White, who had previously founded similar events in San Diego and Bakersfield. From Sunset School, in a body, the children marched with their kites to "the grazing country in Hatton Fields." In front of the parade was Town Marshal Gus Englund followed by Mayor Herbert Heron, all the other members of the city council and school trustees.

Persons who helped plan that first kite festival and are still living here are Eugene A. H. Watson, a member of the first parade committee, and George Seideneck, who judged kites.

Rules were that all kites must be made by the children flying them, and must be airborne. Classes were highest flying, prettiest, most unusual, and best kite. Winners respectively were Ted Marble, Charlotte and Jean May, Jerry Neikirk and Kevin Wallace. According to the report the following week in The Pine Cone, the judges had a hard time chosing Kevin Wallace's entry as the best kite.

Later the meadows above the Mission where the first kite festival was held became a subdivision, Hatton Fields Mesa. By this time Carmel had a high school and the kite festival was moved to the football field where it has been held ever since.

Until a few years ago, whether on the mesa or at the high school, there was always a procession. The marching parade gave way to an automobile cavalcade led by a fire truck and police car. Children rode from Sunset School either in trucks provided by the street department or in their parents' automobiles. It was a long, loud parade up Ocean Avenue. During Mr. White's lifetime, and after, the parade always went past his house at the northeast corner of Camino Real and Ninth Avenue to honor

SALES TAX REVENUE

Carmel's share of local sales tax revenue for the first quarter of 1962 amounted to $45,883, according to a report from George R. Reilly, chairman of the State Board of Equalization. This sum accrued from local sales and use taxes during the final quarter of 1961.

Pico Blanco Not To Be Spoiled Peak Owner Says

The summit of Pico Blanco will not be marred and defaced by limestone quarrying operations, Mrs. Olaf P. Jenkins, co-owner with her husband of the peak of the Sur country mountain south of Carmel, stated this morning.

Although she and her husband have leased the 640 summit acres they own to Granite Rock Company of Watsonville, they still retain control of the property, she emphasized.

"My husband is a conservationist and we will not let anything happen to spoil the beautiful country we love," she declared, and added that a report yesterday issued by Dr. Robert Bowersox, Democratic Congressional candidate for the 12th District, "was completely out of line."

Mr. Jenkins was Chief of the California Division of Mines before his retirement three years ago. He and Mrs. Jenkins now live in Pacific Grove. According to Mrs. Jenkins, the couple bought the Pico Blanco property shortly after Mr. Jenkins retired.

This morning Dr. Robert Bowersox sent a telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman urgently asking this Federal department to help prevent any heavy industry being established in or near Los Padres National Forest. Yesterday Dr. Bowersox sent a similar request in a telegram to Secretary of the Interior Udall.

Today's telegram was sent because Dr. Bowersox discovered that mineral rights in Los Padres National Forest are controlled by

Planners Set First Public Hearing On C-1-L Rezoning

Planning commissioners, yesterday afternoon, set the first of a series of public hearings on the rezoning of property into the new C-1-L (motel, hotel, apartments) commercial zone of the city.

The first hearing will be on April 18 at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon in city hall. Four areas will be up for hearing at this time. They are La Playa Hotel site; all of the block bounded by Ocean Avenue, Junipero Street, Sixth Avenue and Torres Street, and containing the Village and Torres inns; Lots 1-7, San Carlos and Camino Del Monte where Pine Terrace Apartments are situated; and all of the west side of San Carlos Street between Third and Fourth Avenues, including the sites of Svengaard's Lodge and Hofsas House. All of these areas are now in the C-1-S zone where commercial service establishments are permitted, in addition to shops.

Other business commissioners acted on yesterday was: Granting L. E. Gottfried's request for a use permit to relocate boundaries of property on Flanders Way; allowing a variance to S. J. Hindle for a six-foot setback reduction because of steep terrain property on Torres Street between Eighth and Ninth avenues; granting a use permit to Earl DuLaney allowing division of land at the northwest corner of Guadalupe and Fifth into three building sites.

Citizens Committee Reveals Results Of Parking Survey

The Carmel Citizens Committee last week stationed three young ladies near the post office entrances to question passersby about the parking situation in Carmel. The results show that citizens do want parking lots.

Miss Charlotte Townsend, Mrs. Betty Didrichsen and Mrs. Lila Kawananakoa posed the questions in the "man-in-the-street" survey. Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.) tabulated the following results for the Pine Cone.

The first question was— Should Carmel have more off-street parking spaces. Two hundred and twenty-two persons answered as follows: Yes, 187; No, 35. Of the yes answers, 130 came from Carmel residents, 57 from non-residents. The 35 No answers were divided into 26 residents, nine non-residents.

The second question — Who should provide the parking spaces

EX-PADRE CRACKS STANFORD VAULT RECORD

Phil White, ex-Carmel High School athletic great, established a new Stanford University pole-vault record last Saturday afternoon at Fresno State College when he soared 14 feet, nine inches to eclipse Bill Miller's record which had stood up for over 20 years. The muscular ex-Padre track star holds the Carmel High vault record of 13-3, and has been challenging the Stanford record for three years.

Inasmuch as this was Stanford's first meet of the 1962 season, the Indian track coaches are hopeful that White will top the 15-foot mark before the season is over and give San Jose State's power-packed vaulting corps a severe challenge for Pacific Coast vaulting honors.

CARMEL HIGH SWIMMERS TOP WATSONVILLE

Led by junior Art Horning's two come-through wins, Coach Jim Agan's Carmel High varsity swimming squad outscored the Watsonville Wildcat natators, 54 to 40, last Saturday morning at the Watsonville pool and established itself as one of the top tank teams in the Coast Counties Athletic League. Horning, a muscular 6-4 sprint star, copped the 50 freestyle with a sparkling 24.2 clocking and turned in an outstanding performance to pace the winning 200-yard medley relay. While the Padre varsity was clipping the Wildcat heavies, the Little Padres were no match for the talented Wildkittens and absorbed a 51-35 setback. Although beaten by the Watsonville lights, the Carmel crew set two new standards as Jim Holt posted a 2:23 200-yard freestyle, and the Little Padres zipped to a 1:56.3 200-yard freestyle relay record. Mike Paul, Mike Newman, Pat McGibney, and Bud Smith teamed up to establish the new 200 relay standard.

Contributing points for the varsity's winning cause were Milt Frumkin, 2nd 400 freestyle; Jeff Porter, 3rd 400 freestyle; Bob Wells, 3rd 50 freestyle; Bob Albee, 1st 100 butterfly; Steve Harth, 1st 200 freestyle; Al Nishimura, 1st 100 backstroke and 200 individual medley; Bruce Campbell, 3rd 100 breaststroke; and relay winners Chris Rose, Keith Jones, and Tom Farrell.

Lightweight point-makers were Jim Holt, 1st 100 individual medley and 200 freestyle; Bud Smith, 2nd 50 freestyle and winning relay; Bruce Ricker, 3rd 100 backstroke; Mike Newman, 2nd 100 breaststroke and winning relay; Mike Paul, 2nd 100 freestyle and winning relay; Maynard Petersen, 2nd 50 butterfly and 3rd 100 individual medley; and Pat McGibney, 2nd diving and winning relay team.

SAN LORENZO AND SANTA CRUZ FAVORED IN BASEBALL

Coast Counties Athletic League coaches and sportswriters gathered at Maxey's Chuck Wagon in Monterey Monday night and came up with the winners of the A and B division baseball races in the CCAL. After each coach had evaluated his material and had provided the usual alibis, the experts came to the conclusion that Santa Cruz should win the A-division flag on the strength of the brilliant pitching of junior John Pierce. Pierce was the mainstay of the Cardinal pitching staff last year and appears to be the class of the league as the 1962 pennant chase gets underway. After Santa Cruz, it shapes up as an even-up chance for Monterey, Salinas, North Salinas, and Watsonville to finish in the runner-up spot.

The B-division baseball race shapes up as a pitcher's league with San Lorenzo, Live Oak, Gonzales, Holliser, and Pacific Grove gifted with potent starting hurlers. San Lorenzo's Adams, Hollister's Rodgers, Live Oak's Pfeiffer, Gonzales's Correa, and Pacific Grove's Roberts are all talented flingers and each will have a definite bearing on the outcome of the B-division championship. Gilroy, Carmel and King City do not figure to have the topflight pitching of the other five and each is considered a darkhorse contender. If the Padres are successful in getting letterman pitchers Jim Brown and Forrest Cornwall eligible, the Red and Gray squad could be trouble for any team in the league.

CARMEL MERCHANTS SET TO OPEN SOFTBALL PLAY

Manager Paul Artellan and Captain Neno Aiello have been putting the Carmel Merchant softball club through vigorous workout sessions at Sunset Field for the past two weeks and figure the village nine is ready for some outside competition. In order to see how the squad shapes up against a topflight team, Artellan is taking his charges to Soledad Prison next Sunday for a double-header with the talented prisoners. Soledad has always been able to hold its own with the A-class teams which invade the prison grounds and should be a good test for the Carmel softballers.

Veterans returning for another season's play with the Merchants are Paul Ricketson, Phil Ramirez, Gene Zinani, Jack McGaughey, Fritz Lembach, Duke Snyder, Jim Fisher, Dennis Narvaez, and Dick White. Newcomers to the squad are Roben Scott, Bob Updike, Jerry Millette, Humpie Ramirez, and Beryle Gonzales.

The Merchants will enter the pre-season and Tri-County tournaments and will play in the Pacific Grove Recreation Department A-league with their sights set on a trip to the State Tournament when league play is over. It is hoped that the Merchants can book some outstanding A-class softball teams for appearance in exhibition games at Sunset Field.

Little League

LITTLE LEAGUE TRYOUTS SATURDAY AFTERNOON

First tryout for the 1962 Carmel Little League teams is slated for this Saturday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock at the Carmel High School baseball diamond. Managers from all the Little League teams will be on hand to supervise the tryouts and give every candidate an objective test on the fundamentals of baseball. Little League candidates who signed up on Monday, March 19, will be already processed and need not bring birth certificates to the tryout. However, new players who have not signed up with the Little League directors must bring their parents and a copy of their birth certificate to Saturday's tryout. In order to be eligible for Little League, a boy must not be 13 years old before August 1 and must attain the age of eight years before August 1.

Player Agent Henry Newman and his capable staff assures every candidate of a thorough tryout and guarantees every eligible player an opportunity to participate with either a major or minor league team. In addition to this Saturday's opening tryout, practice sessions will also be held on Saturday, April 7, and Saturday, April 14. All sessions are scheduled to start at 1:00 o'clock at the Carmel High School baseball diamond. It is mandatory that Little League candidates make two out of three tryout sessions in order to play on a Little League team.

AUDUBON GRASSLANDS TRIP

The annual spring tour of the fabulous "grasslands" of western Merced county will be held this week end. The area encompasses 47,000 acres of marsh land which is the habitat of many species of waterfowl and shorebirds. The tour is sponsored by the Sacramento Audubon Society. Dr. Howard Leach, president of the society, invites interested persons to meet with his group at Canal Farm Inn, Los Banos, at 1:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon for a field trip. A tour is also scheduled for Sunday morning after breakfast.

Citizens Committee Reveals Results Of Parking Survey

. . . business or taxpayers?—was answered thusly: business, 51 persons (33 residents, 18 non-residents); taxpayers, 12 persons (five residents, seven non-residents).

Third query — Should business and taxpayers share parking costs? —was answered affirmatively by 32 persons (22 residents, ten non-desidents).

Six persons (four residents, two non-residents) favored self-supporting parking lots.

Parking meters were approved by eight persons (five residents, three non-residents).

Comments on the city's parking situation were varied. Eight persons wanted motels to pay for off-street spaces; four wanted less facilities, less tourists; seven advocated shortening time zones on Ocean Avenue; two said, "Have fewer trees, thus more parking spaces"; five advised making business people park outside of town; seven recommended assessing outsiders by entry fee or other means; one stated real estate people should pay for parking lots; another suggested using Sunset School playgrounds for parking; four wanted a pedestrian mall in the business district.

Among other individual suggestions were: parking meters decorated with flowers; home mail delivery to prevent traffic jams at the post office; remove too many green and orange curb markings; have visitors park above the city in self-supporting lot with conveyors to bring them to the shops; and lastly, "I'm moving, can't park, can't build!"

Red Cross Drive Now Totals $16,078

Mrs. Kenneth Roberts, Carmel residential chairman, announces that solicitor coverage of the Carmel residential area is almost completed with a total of $9,667.50 to date turned in. "By the end of the week," says Mrs. Roberts, "callbacks will be completed and we are asking residents who may have been missed to mail their contributions to the chapter, telephone the chapter for someone to come pick up their checks, or give their contributions to one of the Red Cross workers at the tables outside the banks."

"We expect to reach our goal of $28,000," Carl Bosholm, general fund chairman, states. "Record contributions are expected from Carmel Valley where we have three fine chairmen, Frank Porter and Mrs. Milton Frumkin for the residential areas, and Tom Hefling, Jr., for the business district. The total reported does not include any report from Carmel Valley, Carmel Meadows, Rancho Rio Vista, Highlands or Big Sur. We expect to count most of their contributions in next week's report."

DONER TALKS MONDAY AT M P C

Ephraim Doner, Carmel Highlands artist, will give the first of a series of four talks under the general heading of Random Reflections on Art on Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Monterey Peninsula College library lecture hall.

Third lecturer in the college's Arts, Science and Humanities series, he will also speak on the evenings of April 9, 16 and 23. He follows Carlos S. Mundt, astronomer, and Dr. Eric Berne, psychiatrist, who spoke in February and March.

Local realtors made plans recently for an educational and sales conference, sponsored by the California Real Estate Association, on April 18 at the Mark Thomas Inn.

Mr. Foster and other officers of the Carmel Board of Realtors met with Mr. Brown, of Pasadena, and H. Jackson Pontius, of Arcadia, CREA executive vice president, early in March to discuss and plan the association's 1962 activities in this area.

Later "Bud" Foster announced the conference for local realtors and salesmen in Monterey with the Monterey Peninsula Board of Realtors acting as hosts.

This Is Your Life . . R. E. Salesman was chosen as the conference theme because there is a continuous need to revitalize the selling habits of realtors and salesmen and this program will review the proven techniques of selling, according to "Bud" Foster.

He also noted that today more education and training are required of realtors and real estate salesmen to meet the needs of the community.

Principal speaker at the conference will be Millard Bennett of New York City, author, lecturer and publisher. Conference subjects will be: What Makes a Successful Salesman; Financing—Key to Getting the Listing; Analyzing the Market for the Owner in Setting the Correct Listing Price; Showing the Property to the Best Advantage and Getting the Order; and Service after the Sale.

CREA president, Mr. Brown, stated at the meeting here that this is the fifteenth year the association has conducted educational and sales conferences.

"The conferences have done much to improve the services of realtors to the public," he said. "More than ever before the services of the professional realtor are necessary in negotiating the purchase or sale of a home. In most cases, the purchase of a home is a family's largest investment in a lifetime. Professional counsel and guidance by qualified realtors is necessary to assure that the purchase represents a sound and wise investment for the years to come."

also visited the university library, the student union, the Greek Theatre and the campanile.

This week, as a language assignment, the boys and girls had to write their impressions of the visit to the UC campus and President Kennedy's speech.

Of the 15 children who wrote of their experiences, six stated they were most impressed with the library of over two million books; the same number by President Kennedy's statement, "Knowledge, not hate, is the passkey to the future." Three recorded as their deepest impression his story illustrating the "do it now" principle of action. The same number liked most his remarks about Mrs. Kennedy's elephant ride. Three wrote that they considered the visit to the campanile with its chiming bells as an important event of the day. Two liked the Greek Theatre. All of them were impressed by the President's speech. They were thrilled when the multitude in the stadium sang the national anthem.

All in all it was a big day in the lives of Stephen Myrick, Christopher Querforth, Bill Faulkner, Philip Goulding, Ralph Forbes, Jacqueline Smithson, Christopher Benedict, Ritchie McBride, Peggy Edwards, Jeffery Clark, Debra Bradshaw, Linda Shelton, Richard Ratcliffe, Margaret Demarest, David Hooper, Michael Dudley and Roger Lundblad.

Citizens' Educational Study Group Requests Board For Phono-Visual Reading Method Pilot Program

In a study session with the Carmel School Board last night, the reading subcommittee of the Citizens' Educational Study Group made a tentative request that Carmel schools use the Phono-Visual method of teaching reading on a three-year evaluation basis at Tularcitos, Carmelo and Woods Schools.

Mrs. Frederick Duhring, speaking for her subcommittee, also reported that 31 Carmel teachers had requested permission to attend the international reading conference scheduled for this summer in San Francisco.

She said the citizens' group was also interested in more teacher participation in such reading workshops, and in establishment of libraries in elementary schools.

Further recommendations from Mrs. Duhring were introduction of classics "or other books of special merit" for the use of beginning readers, and a closer working cooperation of parents in the school study program, perhaps on the basis of several compulsory parent meetings in the school year.

School trustees took under study at the same meeting a cost estimate from the Pacific Telephone Company setting up a central telephone exchange for the school district.

The new system would cost, trustees were told by a representative of the telephone company, $669.35 compared with the present $411.55 per month. But the figure includes the addition of eight new telephones at Carmel Junior High School.

On an annual basis, the phone bill would be $6,693 plus $655 installation the first year. This includes an operator's salary of $3,600. Carmelo and Tularcitos schools would not be on the system since their addition would be economically unfeasible at the present, trustees were told.

The $2,568 a year jump in phone costs represents a net jump considerably lower, according to the firm's spokesman, P. A. Cordrey, because the telephone operator's time can also be used for typing, filing and mail distribution, and additional time and money would be gained by avoiding the loss of time now given by school administrators and teachers to taking and sorting out phone calls and messages.

Trustees last night voted to send letters of commendation to award winners of the Daughters of the American Revolution essay contest: Constance Hood, fifth grader, Woods School, first prize; Peggy Edwards, Woods fifth grader, second, and special award winner Ronnie Fukugawa, eight grade, Sunset School, who tied for second award.

Special commendation came also from the board last night, initiated by trustee Clayton Neill Jr., for the curriculum work done this year by Warren Edwards, Carmel High principal, and Dr. Walter Klas, principal of Carmel Junior High School, who have planned a coordinated curriculum for the new school relating to the high school.

In other action the board accepted the resignation of Edward Whitmore, music teacher at Sunset School, who plans to go into private music teaching, and ratified employment contracts of Gerard Barry, junior high school industrial arts teacher, and Albert C. Kolb, junior high science teacher.

In an executive session following the board meeting, Walter Burde, Carmel architect, was named as the district's architect for the central district offices to be built at Sunset School. He is a member of the firm, Burde, Shaw and Kearns.

CARMEL MAN CRITICALLY INJURED ON VALLEY ROAD

A Carmel man was critically injured at 3:30 o'clock this morning when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car, which veered off Carmel Valley Road, pitched over an embankment and overturned, throwing the driver out and against a car parked 18 feet away in a private driveway.

Malcolm McNaghten, 41, was in critical condition at Peninsula Community Hospital today, following the accident, which occurred about 350 feet west of Via Petra, according to the California Highway Patrol. He received major head and chest injuries.

The highway patrol report said the McNaghten car, which had been west bound, was totally demolished.

Half Of Carmel Children Read In Topmost Bracket

Results of a reading and verbal aptitude survey presented by Carmel School District curriculum coordinator Eleanor Crouch to the school board last night showed that approximately half of Carmel's students read in the upper quartile of a chart based on a national norm.

In the eighth grade, Miss Crouch said, only ten percent read below the fiftieth percentile. This shows, she said, much improvement over charts of eighth graders made in the early 1950's when 40 percent were below the fiftieth percentile.

The figures were one of the products of an extensive testing program in Carmel elementary grades. Reading achievement was measured in grades 3, 5, 6 and 8 by the California Achievement test, Miss Crouch said, and Sequential Tests of Educational Progress in grades 4, 6, 7 and 8.

The school liquor bill, Carmel High School Principal Warren Edwards was quick to explain, was not a liquor bill at all, but the cost of some paperback books the store had and the school needed for class work.

The second instalment of county taxes will become delinquent if unpaid at 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon on April 10.

James T. Birch, county tax collector, states, "In order for us to accept a remittance without penalty, the envelope bearing the remittance must bear a post office cancellation mark which is prior to 5:00 p.m. on April 10."

The penalty is six percent of the second instalment plus a $1.00 cost charge on each separate assessment.

A letter from the Carmel Citizens Committee and Carmel Unincorporated, signed respectively for each organization by Admiral C. W. Fisher and Thomas K. Perry, has been sent to Governor Edmund G. Brown, stating that each of the above organizations favors the scenic highway system for California proposed by the governor.

The letter also asked that Governor Brown halt all undesirable freeway work throughout the state until action of the 1963 Legislature on a scenic highway bill. Particularly, the letter urged, that such worked be stopped on the Monterey Peninsula.

Copies of the letter were also sent to State Senator Fred Farr, Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee, and Robert Bradford, Director of Public Works.

A color film about the people of Hungary will be presented at the general meeting section of the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon. The picture was filmed and is narrated by Gene Wiankco, who entered Hungary after months of negotiating with Hungarian officials and with permission of the United States State Department to make the first and only full-length color travel - documentary picture taken by an American.

School choirs—a general chorus of 70 and an advanced choir of 25 — will participate in a workshop sponsored by the Coast Counties Music Educators to be held on Saturday in the Pacific Grove High School. Instead of performing as in a concert, the choral groups will perform before each other, first under the leadership of their own conductors, then under the critical leadership of "adjudicators."

Eleven high schools throughout Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties will take part in the workshop.

Anna Moffo Wins Music Society Audience With Quality Of Voice, Dramatic Gifts, Fine Technique

By Eben Whittlesey

The appearance of Anna Moffo, young soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, last Friday turned out to be a very satisfactory substitute for the artist originally scheduled. This very attractive brunette, beautifully attired in a blue grown, thoroughly won her audience with a voice of particularly mellow quality. Her vocal technique was excellent and she displayed undeniable dramatic gifts without, as is sometimes the case, burdening her audience with too many reminders that she is primarily an operatic performer.

Opening with Pergolesi's aria, Stizzoso, mio Stizzoso, Miss Moffo immediately disclosed a warm, friendly approach to her audience, a winning smile and a very well controlled voice. Scarlatti's love, song, Se Florindo e Fedele, was followed by Mozart's brilliant Exultate Jubilate in which the artist demonstrated faultlessly executed runs and vocal intricacies performed without any loss of warmth or melodic quality.

The program proceeded down very familiar paths, enjoying most enthusiastic audience response and leaving the listener with the familiar reaction that he would gladly have listened to many more operatic arias than were offered. Schubert's tender Du Bist Die Ruh, and An Die Nachtigall were sung with warm simplicity and subtlety of interpretation.

Richard Strauss was represented by the familiar and well-loved Morgen and Standchen, demonstrating that the old chestnuts are always welcome when performed as superbly as these were. The songs were given dramatic interpretation, but with proper restraint. Finally, we were rewarded with Una Voce Poco Fa from the Barber of Seville, without singing which, no self-respecting operatic soprano can leave her audience happy. Miss Moffo sang it with easy humor, lightness and splendid control. It was an outstanding performance. Enthusiastic applause was rewarded with a fine aria from the Marriage of Figaro.

After the intermission, the program moved into more contemporary material, commencing with songs of Debussy and De Falla. The latter composer was represented by a gentle lullaby and the sharply contrasting Spanish vivacity of Sequedilla Murfiana. A less familiar Spanish composer, Obradors, was represented by Coplas de Curro Dulce, an unusual and rather haunting lyric.

Three love songs, two by Barber and one by Quilter, evoked widely varied moods from that of a nocturne to one of rousing enthusiasm. Throughout the program, part of the artist's effectiveness lay in the sincerity with which she seemed to approach each mood or characterization.

Returning at length, as one had hoped she would, to opera, Miss Moffo sang Violetta's brilliant aria from the first act of Traviata. There was plenty of power, faultless articulation of runs, and accurately measured emotional intensity. The very enthusiastic applause drew two encores: When I Have Sung My Song To You, and O Mio Bambino Caro from Giannischicchi.

Housing Committee For Bach Festival Seeks Facilities

Mrs. Walter Lehmann and Mrs. Jay Chappell have been appointed as chairmen of the Bach Festival Housing Committee, it has been announced by festival president, Peter Ferrante.

Their duties will entail locating accommodations for the more than 100 festival participants who will be here for the duration of the festival and its preceding rehearsal period. The dates of this year's festival are July 20-29.

A number of factors are taken into consideration when planning the housing arrangements for the participants. Among these are: personality, private rehearsal needs, and location—quick and easy access to Sunset Auditorium is essential as not all participants have their own transportation.

However, Mrs. Lehmann and Mrs. Chappell have reported encouraging progress to date. They are hopeful that the commercial accommodations reserved for the festival will again be augmented by the donation of private facilities as they have been in the past. Already a number of local residents have volunteered to share their homes with this season's participants.

Anyone who wishes to assist the Bach Festival in this project may obtain further particulars by telephoning the office at MA 4-1521.

Art On The Peninsula

Mrs. Louise Cardeiro Boyer of Carmel is among artists represented in the San Francisco Art Institute Artist Members' exhibition of painting, sculpture and prints now on display at the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum. This large survey exhibition of Pacific Coast art will remain on view through April 15.

Mrs. Boyer is represented by an oil painting, Procession with Virgin, Christmas Eve, Mexico. She has had one-man shows at the Lucien Labaudt Gallery, San Francisco, 1958; IBM Center for Advanced Research, San Jose, 1959; Institute of Music and Art, San Francisco, 1959; Literacy House, Valle de Bravo, Mexico; Hidden Village Art Gallery, Monterey, 1960. She also participated in group shows, Church Art Today, San Francisco, 1958; Religious Art of the West Coast; Blackfriars, San Francisco, 1959; Young Collectors, Dallas. She has executed illustrations for six books published at Literacy House, Valle de Bravo, Mexico.

To qualify as an artist member of the San Francisco Art Institute, an applicant must within the past six years have either shown his work three or more times in national juried or invitational exhibitions or been an award winner with an acceptance in at least one additional national show.

Participants in this exhibition are also represented in the San Francisco Art Institute's Art Bank, a project launched three years ago by the Institute with a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation consisting of a permanent reservoir of work by its artist members maintained as a show-case or cross section of recent Pacific Coast paintings, sculpture and prints.

The Carmel Art Association will feature a one-man show by Gerald Wasserman in the small gallery from April 4 until May 2.

A new general membership show will open on the same date as the Wasserman show. Frank Dorn is chairman of the jury for this exhibit. Members of his committee are Leslie Emery, Fred Klepich, Joe Ataide, Edith Dinkin and Jessie MacGregor.

The next meeting of the board of directors of the Carmel Art Association will be held at the gallery on April 9.

The Carmel Crafts Guild will meet on April 13 in the Carmel Art Association Gallery at 8:00 o'clock in the evening.

Roscoe Russell and Carolyn White will discuss and illustrate the subject History and Uses of Leather Through the Ages.

The public is invited to the meeting.

JOHANSEN BUFFET DINNER TOMORROW NIGHT

Jack Uzzell, ticket chairman for the Johansen Buffet Dinner Dance, announced today that although most of the tickets for the dance have been sold, provisions are being made to accept reservations at the door. Assurance was given by Mrs. D. R. Dick, chairman of the food committee, that even with the expected crowd, there will still be ample food for all. A jamboree of fun and entertainment is also planned.

The buffet dinner dance is being held at the Rancho Del Monte Country Club in Carmel Valley, beginning at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Everyone is urged by those planning the event to attend and meet Johnnie Johansen, candidate for Sheriff of Monterey County.

TOWN HOUSE EVENTS NEXT WEEK

Mrs. Gilbert Boyer will be the speaker at the Carmel Foundation Town House meeting on Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. She will display pictures drawn under her instruction by Mexican children at Literacy House, Valle de Bravo, and tell of her experiences there. The pictures will be on display all during the month of April. All interested are invited to visit Town House any weekday from 10:00 o'clock to 5:00 o'clock. Tea will follow Wednesday's meeting.

On Friday morning the Health Department X-Ray truck will be at Town House from 10:00 o'clock till noon for the convenience of all members. The County Health Department has been carrying out a series of these courtesy visits to all the Peninsula Senior Centers. The Carmel visit coincides with the last in the series of Fitness for the Future classes given by the Red Cross. All in the neighborhood of Town House are invited to take advantage of this opportunity for a check-up, as well as all members.

Miriam Clark Potter, whose Mrs. Goose books are now delighting a whole new generation of children, was honored at a luncheon at Pine Inn on Saturday given by Monterey Peninsula members of the Delta Gamma Fraternity. On this occasion Mrs. Potter, herself a Delta Gamma, was awarded the Order of The Rose, established by Delta Gamma in 1951 to honor members whose achievements have brought distinction to the fraternity. Only 33 women have so far been given this award.

Mrs. Potter has written 28 books for children, countless stories and poems, and during the 1920's a daily children's feature for the New York Evening Post which was syndicated in 30 newspapers. The Littlebits and Mrs. Goose are her most loved and best known characters. Her latest book is No, No, Mrs. Goose!, and another Mrs. Goose story will appear this year.

Widely traveled, Mrs. Potter came to Carmel in 1938 with her husband, the late Zenas L. Potter, a landscape painter and retired advertising executive, who helped her with the charming Mrs. Goose illustrations. Mr. Potter's retirement was interrupted twice, first to take a post with the Office of Price Administration during World War II, and then to serve as press secretary under Chester Bowles when the latter was Ambassador to India.

Mrs. Potter has three daughters, Mrs. Anatole Chelnov of Geneva, Switzerland; Mrs. Philip H. Smith of Carmel; and Mrs. Alan Bruce of San Anselmo. She has seven grandchildren.

Attending the Pine Inn luncheon, in addition to Mrs. Potter, were Mrs. Smith, and the following Delta Gammas: Mrs. H. E. Helliesen, president; Mrs. D. M. Leach, incoming president; Mrs. Alfred Balsam, Mrs. D. R. Martin, Mrs. Gunnar Norberg, Mrs. William Sexson, Mrs. Richard Sippel, Mrs. Wheeler Streeton, Mrs. Robert Henning, Mrs. J. A. George, Mrs. Russell Catron.

Mrs. Potter was chosen for her honor in 1960, but because she was in Europe at that time, the presentation was delayed until this year.

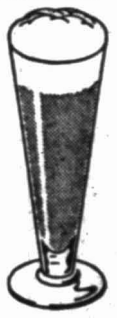
It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862 . . . the same year that

IN CALIFORNIA, Leland Stanford, the founder of Stanford University, was inaugurated as the eighth governor of California. Throughout the state, folks toasted the event with foaming steins of beer.



For then as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation—light, sparkling refreshment that adds a touch of hospitality to any occasion. Californians have always enjoyed the good fellowship that goes with every glass.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

Surprised by Coffee Klatchers

"They came in hootin' and hollerin' and scared the daylights out of me!" exclaimed Richard Lofton, describing a surprise birthday party given for him at his house on Friday night.

The birthday cake was no secret: Mrs. Lofton had baked it for dinner, but persuaded her husband and their daughter, Melissa, to wait and enjoy it later in the evening.

Mr. Lofton had settled down to his favorite television show when the front door burst open and in came most of his Craft Studio friends of the daily "Coffee Klatch" (some were unable to join the party), laden with goodies, to wish him a happy birthday and to share Mrs. Lofton's cake.

Joining the ceremonies, which included, according to Mr. Lofton, "hanging old mats around my neck, like leis" (picture mats, that is), were Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Whittier, Laura Hoffman, Edith Dinkin, Babs Balzer, Fred Klepich, and, of course, Mrs. Lofton and Melissa.

Motel Group on European Tour

A group of motel owners and operators from the Monterey Peninsula will leave here next month on a two-week "trade tour" to Europe sponsored by the California Motel Association. Members of the tour will meet with travel agents in various cities, with the intention of encouraging travel to the United States by Europeans.

Joining the tour will be Mr. and Mrs. Carroll McKee, Mr. and Mrs. George Popoff with their daughters Greta and Pauline, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Peiser, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ireland, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lunt, Mrs. Charles Lunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Brown, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Sickle, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Buhl, Mrs. William Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Don Berry, and Michael McDonough.

The group will leave here April 17 and will visit London, Paris, Lyons, Nice, Rapallo, Rome, Florence, Venice, Innsbruck, Lucerne, Heidelberg and Copenhagen.

Hospital Auxiliary Breakfast

Active members of the Auxiliary of the Community Hospital will meet to elect officers at breakfast at 9:30 o'clock on Monday morning at the Beach Club.

New business will be introduced and copies of the by-laws will be presented to each new member by Mrs. Gordon Reid, president-elect; Mrs. Kenneth Krentz, awards and uniforms chairman; and Mrs. William P. Byrnes, training chairman.

The new training manual, compiled under Mrs. Byrnes's supervision, will be given to all members. She will also ask all members to sign up for tours of the new hospital as all auxiliary members must be familiar with the premises before starting duty there.

Mrs. Mark Raggett, chairman of the nominating committee, will present the proposed slate of officers before a vote of acceptance is taken.

Mrs. Rody Holt will outline the program of selling tickets at the Concours d'Elegance. Mrs. Elmer Zanetta will announce preliminary plans for the annual meeting of the auxiliary on June 5. This will be another breakfast meeting at the Beach Club.

Dr. Bruce Meyer, past president of the Community Hospital medical staff, will talk on Background and Reasons for Hospital Ethics. Following this there will be a talk by Charles Simpson, Monterey chief of police and member of the hospital's board of directors. The title of his address will be, Importance of the Hospital in the Community and the Auxiliary's Value.

Editor's Note: Printed below are the poems awarded prizes in the recent Peninsula-wide high school poetry contest co-sponsored by the Arena Blanca Chapter of Chaparral Poets and The Carmel Pine Cone.

THE EVENING BIRD
(First Prize)

Like a great, dark bird
Evening winged by,
Veiling a golden, crimson sky,
Casting a shadow upon the land,
Stealing the warmth from sea and sand,
Searching the hills for a crevice of light
To claw, and kill, and carry from sight.

—JENNY JOHNSON,
Junipero Memorial High School

FAT TUESDAY
(Second Prize)

Twelve strokes of the bell
and hooded harlequins faded into ashy gloom.
Shouts died,
dancers dropped;
the final bright confetti fluttered down to rest
on cloister steps.
In pale dawn
forty shadows moved out along cobbled streets
toward the steeple—rising in grotesque silence—
forty shadow foreheads, marked with black crosses.

A nun brushed muddy confetti from the brick.

—PEGGY HAWKINS,
Santa Catalina School for Girls

SONG FROM DARKNESS
(Third Prize)

Within my Love sings there a song,
As sweet and gentle
Through lonely darkness
The soft breeze sways.

Oh, what need would I of suns and stars,
Of worlds of wealth and power . . .

The sunlight dancing in her hair
As setting sun
Burning on Aegean waters.

And flashing within her eyes
The light of stars,
The center of Orion's Crescent.

Oh, what need would I of suns and stars,
Of worlds of wealth and power . . .

But my Love it sings a lonely song,
And from darkness
Reverberations echo back . . .
Empty . . . empty, all.

—JOHN HAMAMURA,
Monterey Union High School

FISH POND
(Fourth Prize)

Lazy swirls in the depths of a sunlit pool,
The only trace of pursuer and pursued,
As lengthening shadows stretching across the lawn
Give notice to the flight of day.

—KATHERINE FISKE,
Junipero Memorial High School

Lenten Evensong

MUSIC SUNG BY LOCAL CHURCH CHOIRS

Presented by

KRML RADIO 1410
"Serenity in Sound"

Appropriate to the Season and in keeping with the wishes of our loyal listeners, KRML Radio is presenting Easter and Lenten music sung by local Church choirs and played from the world's best classical recordings.

Beginning April 1 and continuing through Easter Sunday, the program will be heard during our peaceful, closing twilight period, 6:05 p.m. until 6:45 p.m.

LENTEN EVENSONG will sound a responsive chord in the hearts of all those to whom this period, preparatory to the joy of Easter is so meaningful.

In keeping with the theme of this program only the day's "good news" will be presented on the 6 p.m. newscast which immediately precedes it.

You are invited to share the spiritual uplifting of LENTEN EVENSONG. To hear once again the music which has comforted man and given him hope throughout the Centuries.

Dr. Jaqua Speaks Tonight To MPC Election Committee

Dr. Ernest Jaqua, president emeritus of Scripps College will speak at a meeting of the Carmel get-out-the-vote committee for the MPC bond election tonight at Carmel High School.

On the platform with Dr. Jaqua, who is now a Carmel resident, will be Dr. Frederick R. Huber, president of Monterey Peninsula College. The meeting starts at 8:00 o'clock in the high school music room.

Other speakers will include Shelburn Robison, chairman of the Carmel campaign committee, Mrs. Robert Newton, and Max Tadlock, chairman of the college's speech department.

Meantime, Stanley Greeb, chairman of the Citizens' Committee managing the Peninsula-wide campaign, emphasized that speakers are available to appear before any organization wanting to have the bond "story" explained before the April 10 election day. Mrs. Edwin Bliss, chairman of the speakers committee, can be reached at FR 5-7010, he said.

"There is no issue in this campaign," Greeb said. "We are merely finishing a job we started in 1960, when the people voted to create a Peninsula-wide district. We have a faculty and student body—now it's time to make the campus our own."

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

New books for Lent are beginning to filter into our collection. This is better than average timing for us, since the books we order for special seasons generally arrive after the end of the season. Never mind how early we order them, they still arrive after all the shouting is over. But there are three new books in plenty of time for Lenten reading this year. They are as follows.

Basic Christian Beliefs is by Frederick Grant, a scholar who worked upon the revision of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible and was also editor of the Anglican Theological Review for many years. This book discusses Christian doctrines concerning such fundamentals as baptism, communion, atonement, life after death and many other basic concepts.

Son Of Man by Leslie Paul is subtitled A Rediscovery of the Real and Human Jesus by One of the Great Christian Writers of the Day. Replete with maps, this book gives the background of the times from the historical and religious aspects, and shows clearly the great struggle which went on in the minds and hearts of the people.

An Introduction To The New Testament by Edward Bauman is a small book and a surprising one. Book by book, it takes up the New Testament. Each chapter ends with an outline of the book discussed. These outlines are short, but comprehensive. The surprising thing is that so much comprehension could be compressed into so short a book. This is for the seeker who must read as he runs.

For the homemaker, we have three new books published for the Singer Company and covering three aspects of home sewing. One called The Singer Sewing Book, the second is the Singer Dressmaking Book, and the third is the Singer Home Decorations Sewing Book. All three are illustrated in color and black and white. All are very specific and helpful.

Not all the plural wives of the early Mormons were content with their lot; some rebelled and even divorced their husbands. Such a one was Ann Eliza Young, the twenty-seventh wife of Brigham Young. The book about her is entitled The Twenty-Seventh Wife, and it was written by Irving Wallace of Los Angeles.

Putnam is now publishing a new series of charming books under the series title Pleasures and Treasures. We have three new ones this week. Authors and titles are self explanatory. They are French Porcelain by Landais, French Eighteenth-Century Furniture by Souchal, and Clocks, by Fleet. All three are well illustrated, mostly in color, or perhaps it would be better to say partly in color, and all are nice examples of bookmaking. We have two earlier volumes in the same series. All pleasing.

There are new novels, of course. There is also a new Dictionary of Abstract Painting and an Encyclopedia of Wine. The latter book will be in the reference collection. So many wonderful new books, we hope you read them all!

the kite festival's founder.

The parade was discontinued some years ago because many carefully made kites were damaged in the ride up the hill in the trucks. This was sad for the youngsters who had spent weeks preparing for the event.

Saturday the gathering place for this year's Carmel Kite Festival will be Carmel High School football field, and the event will be sponsored by the Carmel Lions Club and the Carmel School Recreation Department. The time, 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Rules will be the same as those for the first kite restival in 1931.

All this week and last, practice kite flying has been going on around town when the wind blew and there was no rain.

Saturday's festival will depend on the same favorable weather conditions. If it rains the festival will have to be postponed as has happened on several past occasions.

Ribbons and prizes will be awarded in each event Saturday. Kite makers may enter one contest other than the high flying competition. All kites will be entered in the Willis G. White international kite event, also the grand champion kite contest to discover the best all-around kite.

Events are as follows: Seven years old and under — 200 foot flight contest; prettiest kite contest; most unusual kite contest. Eight years old through 11 years—high-flying, 15 minutes; prettiest; most unusual. Twelve years old through 15 years—high flying, 15 minutes; prettiest; most unusual. Sixteen years old and older—high flying, 15 minutes; prettiest; most unusual.

The Carmel Kite Festival is open to all persons in this area—providing they make and fly their own kites.

Leigh Mudge

Memorial services were held in the Church of the Wayfarer Tuesday for one of the finest and best-loved men who ever lived in Carmel, Dr. E. Leigh Mudge.

In the Church of the Wayfarer, he was virtually an assistant pastor. At the Town House he was a constant visitor and one of the founders and long-time president of the Book Lovers' Club. In Masonry, he was the first and only chaplain of the High Twelve Club. In art classes and among non-professional painters he was well known and his paintings are still with us.

With students of literature, he was a stimulating conversationalist. Lovers of poetry delighted in his spontaneous reciting of his own verse. To casual visitors, as well as permanent residents, he was known as the author of a knowledgeable book, his last of many, Carmel-by-the-Sea, which is in all local bookshops. He was an inspirational friend to this writer and to many other men.

Leigh Mudge was born in Poultney, New York, July 27, 1879. His formal education resulted in B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of North Dakota, and a doctorate in philosophy from the State University of Iowa. His vocations included Methodist pastorates in North Dakota and Pennsylvania, college teaching of philosophy and psychology, and editorship of the Methodist Church School publications.

In 1950 he and his wife, Mrs. Olive Paul Mudge, established their home at Fifteenth Avenue and Carmelo Street, near the home of Mrs. Mudge's sister, Miss Etta Paul. Two daughters and sons-in-law and seven grandchildren live in Stratford, Connecticut, and Berkeley, California. The daughters are Mrs. K. W. Eisenman of Stratford, and Mrs. Robert Holmes of Berkeley.

The memorial service was conducted by Dr. Mudge's pastor, Dr. K. Fillmore Gray. A eulogy from the Masonic fraternity was read by Arch Balchin. One of Dr. Mudge's sons-in-law, the Reverend Robert Holmes, spoke very intimately and read a poem, Requiem, written by Dr. Mudge within recent weeks. John Farr sang Open the Gates, by Knapp.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Dr. Mudge may do so in the form of donations to the Dr. E. Leigh Mudge Memorial for cancer research or welfare projects of the Church of the Wayfarer.

—Fred L. Farley.

COURT OF HONOR

Troop 86, Boy Scouts of America, will sponsor a court of honor tomorrow evening at 6:45 o'clock in the Carmel Scout House. Dr. C. A. Broaddus, district commissioner, will be present and the public is invited.

Scouts who will be honored are: David Schetter, wild life management and cooking merit badges; Steven Dyer, cooking merit badge; Peter Dyer, Star Scout; Robert Parkhurst, first class and bugling merit badge; Barry Bates, archery merit badge; Mark Zanides, second class; Thomas Ball, Tenderfoot.

Scoutmaster of Troop 86 is Wes Ball, and assistant scoutmaster is Robert W. Parkhurst.

Coward Premiere Cast Announced By Studio Theatre

There is an element of expectancy and excitement when a new play makes its debut, and this feeling of pleasurable anticipation will be present when The Studio Theatre presents the West Coast premiere of Noel Coward's Relative Values at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

The play is a wry and witty comment on England's changing social status. To dramatize his theme, Mr. Coward has plunged into the serene and settled surroundings of a ducal country seat, a Hollywood star determined to get herself a title. Since the title reposes in the person of the Countess of Marchwood's son, Nigel, the countess is equally as determined that she shall not have it.

The countess, in whose home the contest is fought, is played by Mildred Cushing, a local resident for two years. Miss Cushing has a vast and varied experience in community theatres and competitive festival activities in Western Canada. As actress, director, touring manager, she has been an associate member of the Holiday Theatre of Vancouver, B.C. She also founded the Kachina Touring Theatre for Children in Tucson, Arizona.

To Amanda Frayle, her formidable opponent who has acquired her infighting tactics on the road to success in Hollywood, Julie Conway Sherry brings a wealth of mixed experience and a trenchant satirical humor. Her own career has been one of glittering ascent. Starting with a drama scholarship at Northwestern University, she went to an ingenue lead in a Dwight Deere Wiman musical, then to a summer at Chicago's famous Pump Room, a stint with Kay Kyser's College of Musical Knowledge, on to New York and her own network show, Yours Truly, Julie. The next ten years she was heard on every major New York radio show, also appeared in national television shows.

Another important member of the household on whom the plot revolves is Mrs. Dora Moxton. Anita Tonn, who is rapidly carving a place for herself on the Peninsula as a talented and versatile actress, plays this appealing part.

Muriel Hamilton who plays Lady Cynthia Hayling, was recruited while pausing on the Peninsula on her way around the world. She brings a fresh breath of her native England to the play. Mary Cannon as Alice is also a lively and talented newcomer to this area.

Ed Pye as Crestwell, the Countess of Marchwood's major domo, heads up the male side of the cast. Dale Skillicorn as Nigel, Earl of Marchwood, the center of the controversy, has been seen in many MPC productions. Rex Whitworth, a local physician, will be making his first stage appearance as a good friend of the family. Al Hood, newcomer to the community, will play Don Lucas, screen star.

Barbara Horder West directs the inhabitants of this unpredictable household. Betty Hackett, Royden Martin and John Halloran are the producers.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The power and permanence of the Word of God will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon on the subject of "Reality."

Among the Scriptural passages to be read is this verse from psalm 107: "He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read (p. 335): "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real, harmonious, or eternal."

The Golden Text is from Isaiah (40): "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand forever."

Pops Concert May 13 Starts Week-Long Symphony Campaign

Eugene Harrah, president of the Monterey County Symphony Association, announces plans for a week - long Symphony campaign. Among events scheduled during this Symphony Week are: Launching the 1962-63 membership; fund raising and ticket sales drives; presentation of the closing concerts of the symphony season; announcement of the Composers Award Contest winner; and the performance of a special Pops Concert to be presented in cooperation with the Monterey County Symphony Guild.

The Pops Concert will start Symphony Week. It is set for May 13 at the Monterey County Fairgrounds. Proceeds from the affair will be used to help defray the orchestra's operating expenses. In addition, season tickets and association memberships will go on sale at the Fairgrounds that day. On May 14, the closing concert of the season in Salinas will take place, and on May 15 the final judging of the Composers Award Contest will be completed and the winner announced that evening at the last symphony concert of the season in Sunset School auditorium.

On May 16, Conductor John Gosling will leave for Liverpool, England, where he will compete in the biennial International Conductor's Competition. Mr. Gosling is one of 20 young conductors selected to participate in this global contest.

On May 17, an extensive telephone campaign to spur the coordinated drives will be conducted from a number of locations. This telephone drive will continue on Friday, and the same day the winner of the Composer's Award Contest will also be present to receive his award.

Saturday, a cocktail party for all symphony workers has been scheduled as the closing event of Symphony Week. At that time a tally of the week's achievements will be made and announced.

Les Laky is Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Les Laky have cause to be proud of their older son, Les, who has accumulated many honors during his four years at the University of California at Berkeley. The most recent is his having been chosen with other leading members of the class of 1962 to be a member of the Senior Guard of Honor which marched into the California Memorial Stadium on Friday afternoon just before President Kennedy's entrance, and lined up on each side of the President's route through the stadium to the speaker's platform to deliver his Charter Day address.

In his career at Cal, Les has been president of Bowles Hall for four years, is one of 50 invited members of the Californians, and is among 40 senior class students in the Hall of Fame. He won his Big C in swimming and water polo.

Majoring in electrical engineering, Les has already received the offer of a job in Lorain, Ohio, which he will accept after his graduation in June.

Guests were Miss Flavia Flavin, Mrs. James Tyson, Mrs. Claude Courteol of Pebble Beach and Mrs. Courteol's house guest and longtime friend Mrs. Earl Colvin of Boston, Mrs. David C. Pitfield, Mrs. James L. Hathaway, Mme. Alice Legrand and Mrs. Linden Leavitt, Jr.

Nicki Back From Italy

After spending six months in Europe, Nicki Wilson flew home on Monday and is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Wilson, and her sister, Sherry, a student at Carmel High School.

On the strength of recommendations, her excellent grades and an interest in Italian, Nicki was accepted, at the beginning of her sophomore year at Stanford University, to attend Stanford-in-Italy, which is located in Florence. Her six months of study, starting last September, were interspersed with holiday travel in France, Spain, Germany and England, to make a memorable experience.

Nicki leaves Carmel on Sunday to return to Stanford-in-California.

David Here From Williams

David Tyson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Tyson of Carmel Point, is home from Williams College in Massachusetts, where he is a sophomore, for the two weeks spring holiday.

David, whose college interests, according to his father, are "soccer and philosophy," will work in a bank in New York City during the summer.

Youth Center Board Votes Confidence In Management

The adult board of the Carmel Youth Center in a unanimous vote yesterday afternoon expressed complete confidence in the adult management of the teenage recreation center, also approval of the manner in which the members of the youth board handle their share of the management, according to James Buffington, Jr., president of the adult board.

Proceeds of $100 were reported as profits from food sales at the rugby tournament on the Peninsula last week end. Youth Center food concession trailers were taken both to Carmel High School and Monterey Peninsula College during this event.

Mr. Buffington also reports that the food trailers are now completely paid for and that during the MPVS garden and house tour on May 2, Youth Center members will again direct traffic.

No work was done yesterday on the Youth Center budget and constitution changes which are in the process of being carefully studied by the adult board before any amendments are suggested.

Cub Scout Pack 48 Awards Presented

Twenty members of Carmel Cub Scout Pack 48 received awards at a meeting last Wednesday in All Saints' Parish Hall, following a program on the theme, South Pacific Islands.

Mrs. Marjorie Schmorance, a den mother, gave a travel talk, From San Francisco to Guam, and Den 4, wearing colorful island masks and swords they had made themselves, acted out "the capture of the great white hunter" and joined the other dens in a display of hand crafts.

Mrs. Fred Duhring's Den No. 1 also presented a shadow play on bicycle safety.

Announced during the evening was the father-son softball game at Sunset School playground at 12:30 o'clock on Saturday.

Receiving awards from pack master William Suttie were:

Art Redner, bear badge; Craig Dickinson, wolf badge, silver arrow, (bear book); Charles Schetler, three wolf silver arows, denner; Richard Busic, wolf badge, gold and silver arrows, assistant denner; Billy Schmorance, wolf silver arrow; Danny Shea, wolf badge gold arrow (bear book); Ted Rainer, wolf badge gold arrow; Jock Whitney, wolf badge and silver arrow; Peter Kelly, wolf gold arrow;

Guest In Valley

Lynne Heringer, a student at California Polytechnic College, spent her between-quarters break last week in Carmel Valley with Mr. and Mrs. John L. Williams. During her stay, Lynne and her hostess were guests of Mrs. Bob Wilson of Rancho Chupinos at the luncheon and fashion show at Corral de Tierra Country Club given by the Cowbelles, women's auxiliary of the Monterey County Cattlemen's Association.

SAN FRANCISCO FIRE WATCH SET FOR APRIL 18

Yes, the Monterey County Chapter of the San Francisco Fire Watch will meet again. A luncheon date has been set for the group at 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon of April 18, at La Playa Hotel.

As the memorable day draws nearer, inquiries had been made about whether the chapter, composed of Peninsula residents who were in San Francisco during the earthquake and fire of April 18, 1906, will reconvene this year.

Though the local watch has no officers, no committees, no dues and no charter, many of the organizational duties have fallen to former state Senator Ed Tickle of Carmel, who says the 56th anniversary of the fire, which marks the second annual watch meeting for the local group, may draw even more participants than the 62 who attended last year's initial meeting.

Faculty Supports MPC Lecture Series In Statement Today

The Monterey Peninsula College Faculty Association today issued a statement commenting on attacks made on the MPC community cultural program during recent weeks.

The faculty association "regrets" the attacks and endorses the program as it was originally conceived, the statement says, because, "For a college to be a college, there must be an absolutely free exchange of ideas. Without this, a college becomes a training school or a place of indoctrination.

"We hold that the free exchange of ideas is, for our society, our main safeguard against subversion," the faculty association statement continues, and ends with the following paragraphs:

"We hereby express our faith in freedom, our faith in democracy, our faith in self-government. We believe that thinking is hard work. But we also believe that no one has the right to deny other people the opportunities for thinking on all sides of the important problems of this world.

"As a college faculty dedicated to the stimulation of thought, we here reiterate our support of the college's community cultural program. We also declare our support of the stated policy of the Board of Trustees and of those representatives of the college who have accepted their responsibility to keep freedom of ideas alive."

Max Tadlock is president of the MPC Faculty Association. The attacks referred to in the statement have been made by the Pro-American Group, the statement indicates.

Mailing Ballots

Students in Carmel High School civics classes will assist the city hall staff in mailing sample ballots for the April 10 municipal election. They will also assist on election day at the polls and in the evening by reporting precinct returns to city hall and posting election results.

A similar student assistance experiment during the last city elections attracted statewide League of California Cities' attention.

THE OWNER WAS PRETTY BURNED UP—

WHEN I TOLD HIM his home would sell on today's market for $25,000. He said it was worth at least $35,000 because Mr. Jones got that much for his house and his house wasn't nearly as good, and his friends said it is worth that much, and besides Carmel buyers will pay fantastic prices for anything.

I COULD HAVE TOLD HIM his house was worth $35,000 and taken the listing and he would have been delighted with me. Three months later he would have been burned up when I finally brought him an offer for $25,000 and said it was the best I could do—or didn't bring him any offer at all.

ALSO, TO KEEP HIM FROM BEING ANGRY NOW and thus get the listing, I didn't have to tell him what his neighbor's house actually sold for, either. If he wanted to waste several months trying for the high price the neighbor said he got, that's all right with me, but I think he should know the truth.

IF YOU'RE THINKING OF SELLING and if you don't want to be angry at all—not now or three months from now when your house doesn't sell—you can ask our considered opinion about the selling price which we will base on all the FACTS available and will give you without any obligation. Then YOU decide if you wish to sell, and at what price. IT'S YOUR PROPERTY, you paid for it, you improved it, you have to buy another house with the proceeds. Only you can make the final decision as to price. But if you ask me, you can be sure I will give you an honest opinion of its actual value on today's market—and today's real estate market is my sole, full-time business. May I discuss your property with you?

Wakelle stores. Then for a dozen more years he was travelling representative for a wholesale pharmaceutical company.

"I suppose you could say the reason I got into the pharmacy business is because my real ambition, to become a newspaperman, got nipped off in the bud.

"My uncle (the late Clarence Warren) was managing editor of the San Francisco Examiner and when I applied to him for a job he not only said no, but prevented me from getting a job anywhere else in the city on a newspaper.

"I found out later he had had a rough time as an editor himself and was only trying to save another member of his family from the same fate.

"But since I'd been working as an apprentice druggist I went on with that. Counting my early experience, that means I was a druggist almost 50 years. And I took out my newspaper frustration by writing sports for The Pine Cone, mostly about softball and football."

In college Doc played football and was international inter-collegiate lightweight boxing champion in 1907.

He and Mrs. Staniford, also a pharmacist and the partner in the Staniford drug store here, met when Doc was "on the road" for the wholesale house. "We met in a drug store," Doc explains, "and we have spent much of our life together in a drug store." The couple has two sons, two daughters and four grandchildren, none of them pharmacists.

In 1925, when the Stanifords moved to Carmel, they purchased the drug store then operated by Dr. J. E. Beck. (The same store, in the same location, at Ocean and San Carlos, is now Womble's Pharmacy.)

Four years earlier, in February, 1921, Tal Josselyn and Charlie Van Riper had already organized the Abalone League, along with Thorne Taylor, former member of Captain Eddie Rickenbacker's World War I Hat in the Ring flying squadron. They played on a field behind Van Riper's home at Carmel Point.

The league had adopted its name when it was noted that stray balls from long hits went out of the unfenced area and fell over the cliff into the abalone beds along shore.

Anyway, Doc Staniford, who had played four years with the Cal baseball team and three years of professional baseball with the Tacoma Tigers ("I only got $75 a month but the beer in Tacoma is very good.") was just what the Abalones needed.

He was an active and valuable player in the unique organization until he broke a leg one year sliding in to second base. That's when he took up umpire's duties.

There seemed to be quite a few injuries stemming from Abalone games in the old days. "The field was rather crude. We had big iron spikes to hold down the bases, the grass was so tall that when a player fell he often disappeared from view, and the field was pitted with gopher holes."

Equal to the danger, Staniford's Drug Store stocked crutches and liniment. The players came there anyway to store uniforms and study the scores and standings, which were posted on a board out front.

Six teams comprised the league in its heydey—the Giants, Tigers, Pilots, Shamrocks, Reds and Bears. Much has been documented already about eccentricities of the League, rules for which were formulated by Josselyn and Van Riper. For instance, the pitcher threw from behind a line drawn from first to third base, using a "bowling" throw to encourage, rather than prevent, hits. Since everyone played, men, women and children, there was a special rule preventing fielders from moving in from their regular positions when a woman or child was at bat until the ball was actually hit.

The league didn't remain all its life on the Point. Eight lots were purchased in Carmel Woods later, and still later the league played at Carmel High School.

But wherever they played, that's where everyone in town gathered. Traditionally the mayor opened the season by tossing out the first ball. A hot dog concession was operated by Carmel's Pon Chung. Here's the way Doc reported a typical AL game for The Pine Cone of April 22, 1938:

"For the Giants Harrison Godwin, AL old timer, led his team with four hits out of four and scored four runs. Gale Alderson, T. Mulvin, Ted Leidig, Chick McCarthy, Louie Tarango and Nichols each got three hits for four . . . For the Tigers, young Jimmy Kelsey hit well and played a good first base. For the Pilots, Joe DeAmaral hit well for his team and got the only home run of the day. Frank Townsend also did some heavy hitting.

"There was no really outstanding hitting. A big crowd was on hand, however, and from the way some of the automobiles were parked, we thought it would be necessary to send for a traffic cop to clear the ball field for action."

Sorting among his other memories of Carmel, Doc says one of worst things that ever happened to the town was the wave of curiosity-seekers who descended on Carmel after evangelist Aimee McPherson had visited here.

"They all came by the drug store and wanted us to point out the cottage Mrs. McPherson had stayed in. We finally began sending them out to the Highlands to find it, just to get them off the streets."

Doc also remembers that Carmel's first chief of police, Swedish-born veteran of the Boxer Rebellion Gus Englund, had a polite way of making arrests and admonishments, at least by today's standards, and yet the sight of the big man on the white horse made his words effective.

"Once a customer of ours bought some Roman candles and, paying no attention to signs that told about a fine of $100 for shooting fireworks in the street, began firing them off in the middle of Ocean Avenue.

"I called Gus. He came and discovered that not only was the man firing off the candles, he had also removed the warning signs. But Gus didn't get excited. He just told the man, 'Vell, you go home now.' And he did."

Doc Staniford remains active in several organizations. He is a 32nd Degree Mason, member of the Carmel Lodge F and A M, a member of the San Francisco Islam Shrine Temple, and a Kiwanian, having served as 1957 district governor. He has also had many community jobs, including chairmanship of the Serra Pageant committee.

His service as pharmacist to three generations of Carmelites has won him a townful of friends, but he says he misses not being able to walk downtown and see them. Arthritis keeps Doc mostly at home on Mesa Drive at Oak Place.

A year ago he attended the final meeting of another famous Carmel organization, the Manzanita Club. Only three other Manzanita members turned up, Paul Mercurio, Robert Leidig and Erwin (Rosy) Henry. The four remaining Manzanitans were made honorary members of the Carmel American Legion Post.

Once retired, Doc says, he has stayed retired, though he still gets requests that he fill in as a pharmacist occasionally, as does Mrs. Staniford.

Perhaps he doesn't go because he doesn't relish the idea of working in a drug store which has no fireworks, no anecdotes on tap, no softball scoreboard out front, no Abalone uniforms stored in the back room.

Pico Blanco Not To Be Spoiled Peak Owner Says

the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

According to Dr. Bowersox's written statement to the Pine Cone yesterday, Granite Rock Company of Watsonville plans to quarry limestone on the summit of Pico Blanco and that from the quarry site near the summit, the limestone would be moved by a conveyor belt approximately three miles long to a roadway, then trucked north along Highway One to Monterey.

He also stated this morning that five or six mineral claims have been staked nearby in Los Padres National Forest, but that these are not new claims. The possibility of these claims being developed caused him to send the telegram to Secretary Freeman. Recent exploratory blasting of the claims has been done, he reports.

Dr. Bowersox wired Secretary Udall because Pico Blanco is bordered largely by Los Padres National Forest, and on the east by the Ventana Primitive Area.

He also reports in his statement that geologists were flown by helicopter last September to the Pico Blanco area and brought with them a prefabricated house and equipment, and that water and supplies were brought in by a pack of burros.

This morning he said he obtained the latter information from Tony Zurfrich who operates pack trains in the Sur country.

Edward Cronwall

Private funeral services will be held tomorrow for Edward Cornelius Cronwall, Jr., of Carmel, who died yesterday morning in a local hospital after a short illness.

Mr. Cronwall, a Carmelite for the past decade, was an associate of Irving Lundborg and Company, Carmel investment firm.

Born October 24, 1908, in Chicago, he made his home in Sonora before moving to the Peninsula.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Martha Segerstrom Cronwall; a son, Brian; and a daughter, Nancy, all of the family home at Hatton and Seaview roads; his father, Edward C. Cronwall, Sr., of Elgin, Illinois; and three brothers, Wardell N. Cronwall of River Forest, Illinois; Stanley E. Cronwall of Barrington, Illinois; and Merrill D. Cronwall of Sonora.

Mr. Cronwall was a member of Tuolumne Lodge No. 8, F&AM, of Sonora; Sonora Chapter No. 2, Royal Arch Masons, and All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel.

Officiating at the funeral will be the Reverend David Hill of All Saints', with Masonic rites conducted by Carmel F&AM Lodge No. 680. Burial will follow in El Carmelo Cemetery. The Paul Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Donations in memory of Mr. Cronwall may be made to the Monterey County Heart Association, P. O. Box 1329, Monterey.

Rhyming Teachers Get Sabbaticals From School Board

Two popular Carmel High School teachers, one with a rhyming name and the other with a rhyming pen, asked separately at the school board meeting last night for sabbatical leaves in the 1962-63 academic year.

Richard Pritchard, whose leave was approved, will attend a chemistry institute. And Frederic E. (Buzz) Rainer, whose leave was also approved, will study at Cambridge or Oxford University, then take his family on a tour of Europe, the promising itinerary of which was outlined in a series of rhymed couplets.

Apparently making poetic requests of the school board helps the petitioner's cause. This makes twice in as many years that Rainer has asked for leave in verse, and been granted his request.
